Democracy, the two would constitute a sort of drawn battle on the currency question thus far.

MISS BELL HARPER, of Fairview, Hanonly 16 years old. Having lost her charappears had "given her trouble enough. by shooting him from an ambuscade in her father's house. She shot at close range and took good aim, and John received the discharge mostly in his neck. He may or may not recover. To be ready either for death or matrimony, he sent off for another girl to whom he was affianced. In the meantime Miss Harper, having seen her shot take proper effect, walked into the dining room and ate a hearty meal. Such sang-froid in one so young must have been beautiful to behold.

city to-day cannot help being a matter of are waging a relentless war on the onewho succeeds Tweed as "Boss" of Tammany, dictated the Democratic nomina tions, and made a violent assault in convention upon Recorder Hackett, who had not solicited a nomination. Mr. Hackett has been nom nated by the Republicans and anti-Tammany members of the Democracy, and has the support of the entire press of the city, with the exception of the Tribune. The papers all agree, with the exception quoted, that the tide has set against Tammany and "Boss" Kelley, and that Hackett and the entire anti-Tammany ticket will be elected. This will be a triumph of the friends of good government over the infamous autocracy that has been impoverishing the people

OPINION OF THE CLERGY IN REGARD TO MOODY AND SANKEY .- The New York Herald of yesterday comes to us (per fast mail) laden with the opinion of ministers in several of the principal cities of the country in regard to the revival now being carried on by Moody and Sankey in Brooklyn. Nearly all the recognized orthodox clergy seem inclined to think well and speak hopefully of the movement, but occasionally there is one who mis-trusts that it will be but a flash in the pan, and perhaps beget a reaction that will more than neutralize its good effects. This latter view is very generally entertained by the unorthodox clergy vival is like a straw fire, giving more light than heat. Dr. Chapin has the same opinion, feeling that "religion is more of a life than an emotion." Mr. Frothingham would not encourage the mysgrent, because it is avanuaged and it. Bellows, of New York, fears that the re movement, because it is evanescent, and it.

The cannel coal vein of Preston county movement, because it is evanescent, and will in the 'end do more harm than good. Revival excitements, he thinks, result in positive evil, "People," he says, "suddenly and violently aroused to religious enthusiasm do not keep up the fervor with which they commenced, and when a relapse comes it leaves them worse than the relapse comes it leaves the relapse comes in relapse co they were at first," With the exception they were at first." With the exception of a few such dissenting opinions as these the general feeling of the clergymen is that the two evangelists are doing a good work, and need the encouragement of all at $5, but the freight was then too heavy work, and need the encouragement of all

A MEDICAL JOURNAL IN WHEELING. Our smoky city is not wholly given up to trade and manufactures. Our people are gradually increasing in culture and refinement as they accumulate means. At no period in the history of Wheeling were there so many well to do, well educated and really intellectual people within its limits as can be found to-day. In former days a few families monopolized what little culture there was among us, but now there is a much wider distribution of it and along with it much more real in-telligence. Our excellent schools have done and are doing their work. They have begotten a taste for general information and this general taste has led to less cultivation in certain specialties, such as music, the drama, lectures, scientific studies, &c. We have a accepted meekly, although it is alleged Shakespeare Club of creditable reputa-tion, a Waverley Society of acknowledge of tion, a Waverley Society of acknowledged excellence, a Library Association of growing importance, a body of embryo scientista, a preachers' society or two, a Laral The position of the Universalist body, medical association, a numerous legal fraternity, and we know not how many other similar educational and elevating agencies. Considering the intellectual progress that has been made in our midst in the last few years, it is not unreasonable to hope for greatly accelerated improvement hereafter. Who knows but that Wheeling may yet schieve a life. but that Wheeling may yet schieve a lifter a lifter a lifter are reputation, second only to her fame as a manufacturing centre.

We remember once to have heard the remark that Medical Science does not specified by a lifter of the state of the large of stantially the same platform as the Ohio our midst, a neat duodecimo journal of our midst, a neat duodecimo journal of 36 pages, called the Medical Student, got by the early controversies, they are disposed to preach a less polemic, but a posed to preach a less polemic, but a richer and more positive gospel. They Reeves, who is already known to many of our readers as a writer of several interesting medical papers relating to sanitacock county, is a very enterprising and accomplished young woman for a person issue monthly, and as far as possible to issue monthly, and as far as possible to make it local in its scope. To the mediacter thus early in life, she essayed to cal men of West Va., Eastern Ohio avenge herself upon John Hatch, who it and Western Pennsylvania, it ought to be a publication of decided interest.

THE ENGLISH IRON TRADE .- The depression in the English iron trade is periaps more severe than in any other branch: but nearly every department of industrial and commercial reaction has set in there similar to that from which we have been suffering for two years and arising from the same fundamental than here; but it must run the same course. We have apparently comin some of the more important branches In some of the more important branches of trade; England is now beginning it; the price per ton shall be $5 for the next their conviction that such a course would greatly disappoint Christian people all ted in accordance with prices paid in the East. It is reported that this agreement was arrived at under a difference of opinion regard to the rate of the ten thousand employes of the firm that, if production is to be continued, wages must be reduced; and the firm probably took this method of announcing the lact not only because it was likely to be the most only because it was likely to be the most effectual, but also because it would afford them an opportunity of diminishing them an opportunity of diminishing the source of the state of the source of the source of the state general interest to the country at large.
The Republicans and anti-Tammanyites and the suspension of work by the great and the suspension of work by the great firm of Blockow, Yaughan & Co. is a step man power in city affairs. John Kelly, in that direction. It is a notice to the ten thousand employes of the firm that, if this method of announcing the fact not effectual, but also because it would afford them an opportunity of diminishing large accumulations of their product Their action is not to be regarded as in any sense an evidence of financial weak ness: for the firm is considered one of the wealthiest in the iron trade of England, This precedent, set by the largest works n the country, will no doubt be readily hear of a crisis in this branch of trade. Some may not be able to bear the partial liquidation that attends such a step, and all such producers must suffer; but there can be no doubt the course adopted is calculated to restore affairs to a normal basis with the least delay. To our own trade, this will not be the most welcome news, as it means a reduction in the price of British iron with which they mus

The great bridge at St. Louis cost $15, 600,000, and is a losing concern. The daily receipts average $1,300, while the expenses of maintaining it and the interest on the bonds amounts to $3,000 daily—making the daily net loss $1,700. The stockholders are in tribulation, and no wonder.

The elections to-day, notwithstanding there are so many of them, do not excite anything like the interest that was felt in the result in Ohio. Yet should Pennsylvania go Democratic to-day, having substantially the same platform as the Ohio of contents of the way are did to the times in same platform as the Ohio of contents of commercial activity, although they may not attain their maximum of development amidst the distraction of a mad pursuit of wealth. [From the Pittsburgh Post of Yesterday.]
The Conference Committee from the Puddlers' Union and the Manufacturers' Association held another meeting at the rooms of the latter organization on 4th avenue on Saturday evening for the purpose of settling finally the difference in regard to the price of puddling. The manufacturers were represented by Messrs. B. F. Jones, J. I. Bennett, A. M. Byers and James Lewis, and the puddlers by Messrs. Joseph Bishop, Miles Humphreys, Harris, McAnillish and Williams. It will be remembered that at the former meeting the manufacturers made two propositions, each for $4.50, and on certain conditions. The puddlers rejected these, and in turn offered to work at $5, which the manufacturers would not agree to. Then the manufacturers offered $4.75 per ton. The session of the conference committees, commenced at half-mar 7, and continued, until after agree to. Then the manufacturers offered $4 75 per ton. The Leat-Tobacco Trade.

Lousville, November 1.—A review and statistical record of the leaf tobacco trade of Louisville for 1874-5, published to-day, says: The year is almost as memorable as its immediate predecessor, though it will be remembered with very different feelinga—a season of shrinkage and loss everywhere to those engaged in handling the staple. It is in atriking contrast with the buoyancy of values and profits of trade which distinguished the vear. But we allude to the vast majority ear. But we allude to the vast majority year. But we allude to the vast majority of our population and the large and preponderant 'amount of capital interested in cultivating tobacco instead of buying and trading in it. The results of a year will far more than redeem its character. The successful crops and declining prices of 1875 afford better grounds for congratulation than the ruined crops and buoyant markets of 1874, but as regards the market proper, nearly out as regards the market proper, nearly the only agreeable feature to which we can refer is the fact that Louisville has can refer is the fact that Louisville has continued to lead the van of primary markets of the world. There has been but a small crop to handle, but she has controlled a larger proportion of that than in former years, and has also done, the extent of the general movement being considered, a large business for other inferior markets.

Mr. Moody spoke of the failure of men to save their souls as being due to the lack of their faith in the promises of the Lord and their unbelief. He compared the sinners here to the sick in the wilderness, who were only healed by looking upon the brass serpent which was lifted up by Mose. Many refused to look on the serpent because they could not understand the philosophy of it. So many here were not converted because they did not try to understand it, and did not accept God's word. He offered prayer for the salvation of all those present, Inquiry meetings were afterwards held in Sampson M. E. Church.
